DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Species I in Paper dated 8/11/2003 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the grounds that figures 1-5 and 8 and 9 are the same embodiment is not persuasive. This is not found persuasive because claim 1 is so broadly drafted, the different laminations are each part of different species. Claims 14 and 17 do not depend from claim 3, and are therefore not claimed as part of the first species. Claims 14 and 17 are mutually independent from claim 3 because the window and shroud limitations not found in claim 3, nor are the same laminated plates of claim 3 found in claims 14 and 17.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Specification

2. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.
3. The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1, 2, and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 3 is vague and indefinite because it is unclear whether CPU is an example of a heating element or an actual claim limitation. A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Wang (US 6193205). Wang teaches a fan 32 with a laminated housing 31 connected to a heating element 12.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wang (US 6193205), in further view of Hong (US 5988995) and Thomas (US 5288203). Wang teaches the metal plates of the housing being only having an inner circumference. Wang teaches every aspect of the invention except the end lamination having a circular inner portion with a bearing holder being the air exhaust. Hong teaches the end of the casing in a plate with a circular inner portion with a bearing holder and a window 13 and holder 14 in the arm. Neither Hong or Wang teach the direction of the air through the fan. Thomas teaches the air exhausting from the fan openings 46. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to construct the fan of Wang with end plate having a circular inner portion with a bearing holder with the heat sink because Hong teaches it provides an easy means to connect the electrical connections of the fan, with the openings in the first metal plates being exhaust holes to cooling the electrical component, as taught by Thomas.
